STAYING SAFE

You and your family can help to promote safe care during your time in hospital.

- Your identification bracelet To prevent errors and to make sure we provide the correct procedures to the correct patient, you must wear a plastic bracelet on your wrist.
- When you settle into a room, we will give you an identification bracelet. If you have any allergies, you will receive a second bracelet that lists your allergies.
- Please confirm that the name, date of birth, and all details on your bracelet are correct. Make sure the doctor or nurse calls you by name and checks your bracelet before giving you medicine or treatments. Keep your bracelet on your arm until you are released from the hospital.
- If you see that you need to replace your bracelet, for any reason, tell your health care provider that you need a new one.
- Your list of medicines Keep a current list of your prescription medicines, traditional medicines, over-the-counter products, vitamins, and herbs. Your health care provider or pharmacist can help you create this list.

At the hospital, tell the nurse or doctor what medicines you are taking. Show them the bottles if you have them with you.

Tell your nurse about any side effects you may feel after any test or new medicine.

Working to prevent falls

The nursing staff will assess you for the risk of falling. Please have slippers or shoes with good grip at your bedside.

Tell your health care provider if you feel dizzy or sleepy. Watch for the warning signs that signal wet floors when you are walking in your room or the hallways.

Being part of the treatment plan

Ask your doctor or nurse about your treatment plan. Make sure you agree with the plan. Be part of the plan. Ask questions if you do not understand what someone is saying to you. If you think of questions after the session has ended, write down your questions for the next session.

If you wish, you can ask a family member or friend to listen when staff tells you about your diagnosis, treatments, or plans to leave the hospital.

Ways to prevent and control infection

To protect yourself and others, use the hand rub found at the entrance doors, in the waiting rooms, and elsewhere. Wash your hands often.

If you must cough or sneeze, use a tissue or your upper sleeve to cover your mouth, and then wash your hands. Ask your health care provider to do the same, and to wash their hands before they provide you with care.

Isolation

For health reasons, you may be placed in isolation. While you are in an isolation area, you must remain in your room. You cannot visit other parts of the hospital. Visitors will need to check with the nurse before they can enter the isolation area. When they visit, they must follow any instructions that the nurse gives them.

Fire drills and disaster drills

Fire and disaster drills happen, as needed, to ensure the safety of patients and staff. During these drills, it is normal for buzzers and alarms to make a lot of noise. Do not be concerned. Follow any directions that staff provide.

Follow-up care

Follow-up care involves taking care of yourself or getting help in your community after you leave the hospital. Ask about follow-up care before you leave. Be sure you understand the details.
